AI is ceiling + metered-usage — never unlimited. Included daily tokens are free; usage between "included" and "max" is billed per 1,000; the first request past the hard ceiling returns AI_BUDGET_EXCEEDED. This ties the price to upstream token COGS so a heavy tenant is never served at negative margin.

No self-serve add-on checkout (by design). Add-ons apply via a per-tenant features.suites override on a custom plan row / invoice line — add-on buyers need implementation anyway. Published prices are anchors, not a transactable cart.

📄 4 · Things you should know

SME is a special edition, not just a cheap tier. It carries the full operational spine (finance → procurement → planning → CRM → AI) at ฿690, fenced by a 1-seat / 1-location cap. `control_profile='sme'` also relaxes maker-checker (self-approval) — orthogonal to the plan. Upgrading to Enterprise re-instates full SoD + adds the verticals.

14-day self-service trial on a real tenant — data created in trial carries into the paid plan. Trials are entitlement-granted all suites during the window.

Annual = 2 months free (10-month pricing). Multi-currency published (THB + USD); currency resolution is fail-closed — an unlisted currency errors rather than silently falling back to THB.

The "Business" rung was added deliberately to close the old Standard → Professional cliff (2,900 → 9,900 with nothing between). Steps are now ~1.7× each. Existing subscriptions keep their price until renewal.

Enforcement is behind a kill-switch. Suite/plan gating only bites when `ENTITLEMENTS_ENFORCE` is on (god-bypassed, trial-granted). Confirm it is enabled in an environment before relying on these fences commercially.

The map is CI-guarded. `tools/ci/check-entitlements.mjs` fails any PR where a module token is unassigned or the map drifts — every one of the 42 tokens must live in exactly one suite.

🗨 5 · Assessment & the underlying idea

The idea in one line — sell bundled suites (not single modules) along two independent axes: breadth (how many suites) and scale (seats / locations / usage quotas). Tiers move both, every tier is a clean superset of the one below, so an upgrade is an entitlement flip, never a migration — the "land & expand" engine. Heavy verticals and variable-cost usage (AI) are held out and priced separately so the ladder stays simple and margin-safe.

Well-judged — the Business rung (procurement + multi-branch) genuinely fixes the price cliff and matches a growing chain's next need. SME is a smart wedge: full ERP for a solo owner, seat-capped so it can't cannibalise the multi-seat ladder. Enterprise correctly bundles the four heavy verticals for the group / pre-IPO buyer. Metering AI on a ceiling model is the right call for COGS discipline.

Resolved (docs/53 Q1) — procurement placement. Base procurement (PR → PO → blind-count GRN) now ships from Standard (฿2,900) up; the premium routing (RFQ, three-way match) remains the ฿1,500 scm_advanced add-on. The receiving-controls story is sellable at the entry bundle.

Resolved (docs/53 Q2 + C1) — bimodality. The ฿690 plan now presents as Solo, the one-seat edition of the Complete line, and the split-sell lines (POS per branch / ERP flat) give feature-first buyers a coherent axis; procurement now also sits in Standard, closing the largest gap. AI remains a Solo/Professional+ differentiator by design.

Watch #3 — Free is a funnel, not a product. No finance, no sales/POS — you cannot run a business on it. That's intentional (evaluation / lead capture), but don't position it as a usable free tier.

Net — post-docs/53 the catalog fights in both market bands on their own axes: per-branch POS SKUs at the floor, flat ERP/bundles against per-user suites at the ceiling, with grandfathered pricing (0454) protecting the installed base through any future repricing. Remaining watch: confirm `ENTITLEMENTS_ENFORCE` (shadow-first) is live before quoting the fences as real, and keep the one-page catalog discipline as SKUs accumulate.
